Technical: connect and explore

Explore panel composition, citizens' contributions, priorities and panel-wide findings with an approved Technical account.

> Your access

> Your administrator assigns Technical to your email. You can read Technical and Public. Internal, individual member cards and access administration are not included.

Illustrations use the real interface with fictional example accounts and report data.

01 Choose the Technical entrance

On the homepage, select Sign in for Technical in the Technical card. If you are already signed in with a Technical account, the link reads Open Technical.

Your email determines your access level. The card is a shortcut to a report, not a way to change your profile. Once signed in, the homepage shows Technical profile beside your email.

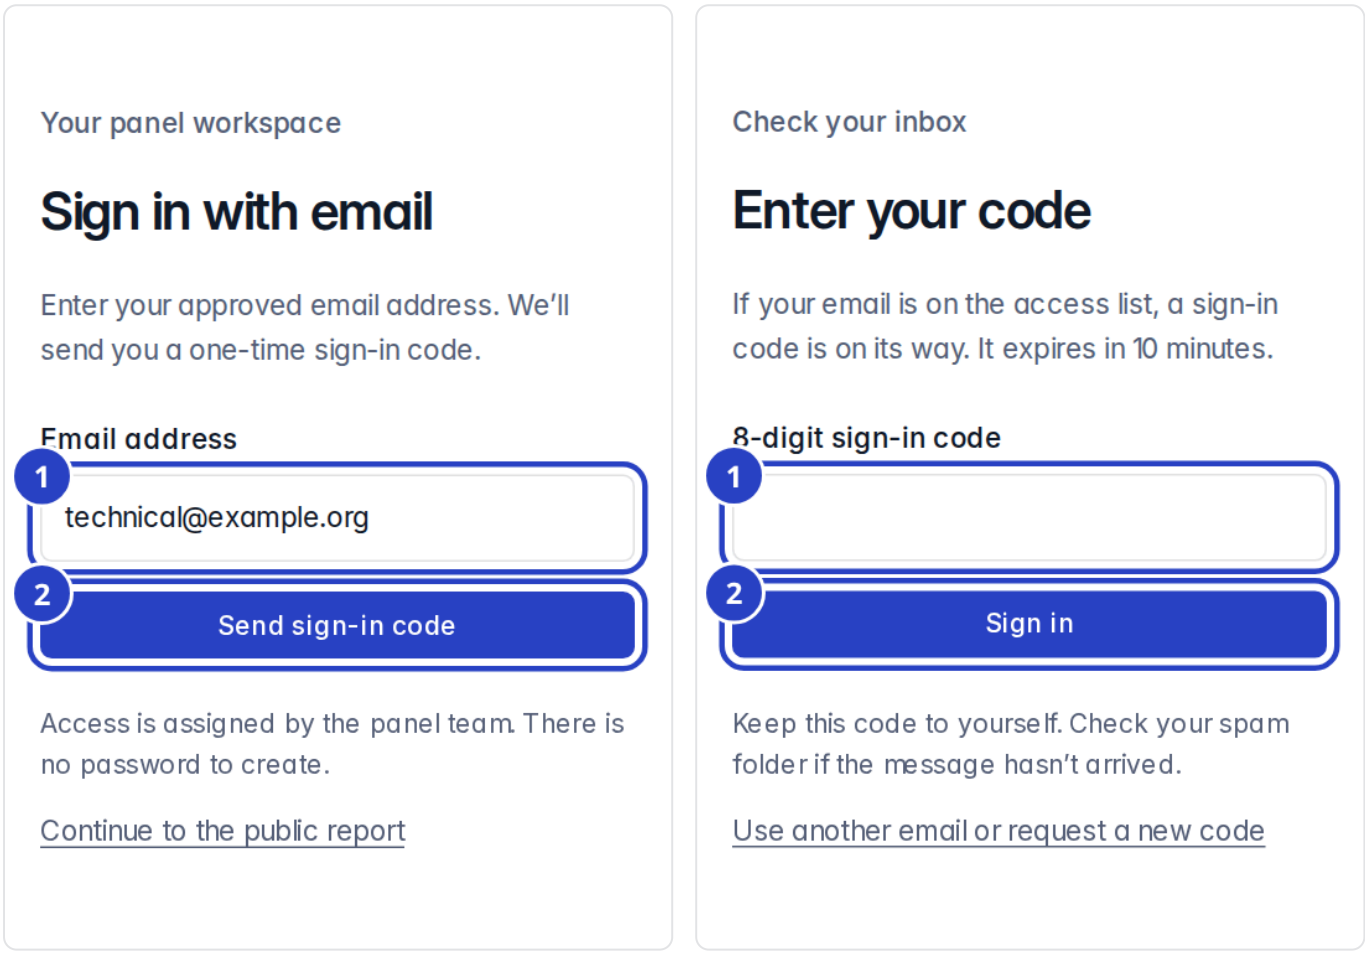

Choose the Technical card. Its label changes to Open Technical for an approved, signed-in reader.

02 Sign in with your approved email

Enter the email address approved by the panel team, then select Send sign-in code. There is no password to create and no self-registration.

Open the message titled Your Panel-lens sign-in code. Check spam or junk if it is missing. Return to the same browser tab, enter the eight-digit code and select Sign in. The code expires after 10 minutes; keep it to yourself.

The sign-in screen does not reveal whether an address is approved. If no message arrives, check the address and ask the administrator to confirm your access. Repeated requests are limited; wait before trying again.

Enter your own approved email on the left, then the code from your email on the right. These are example screens.

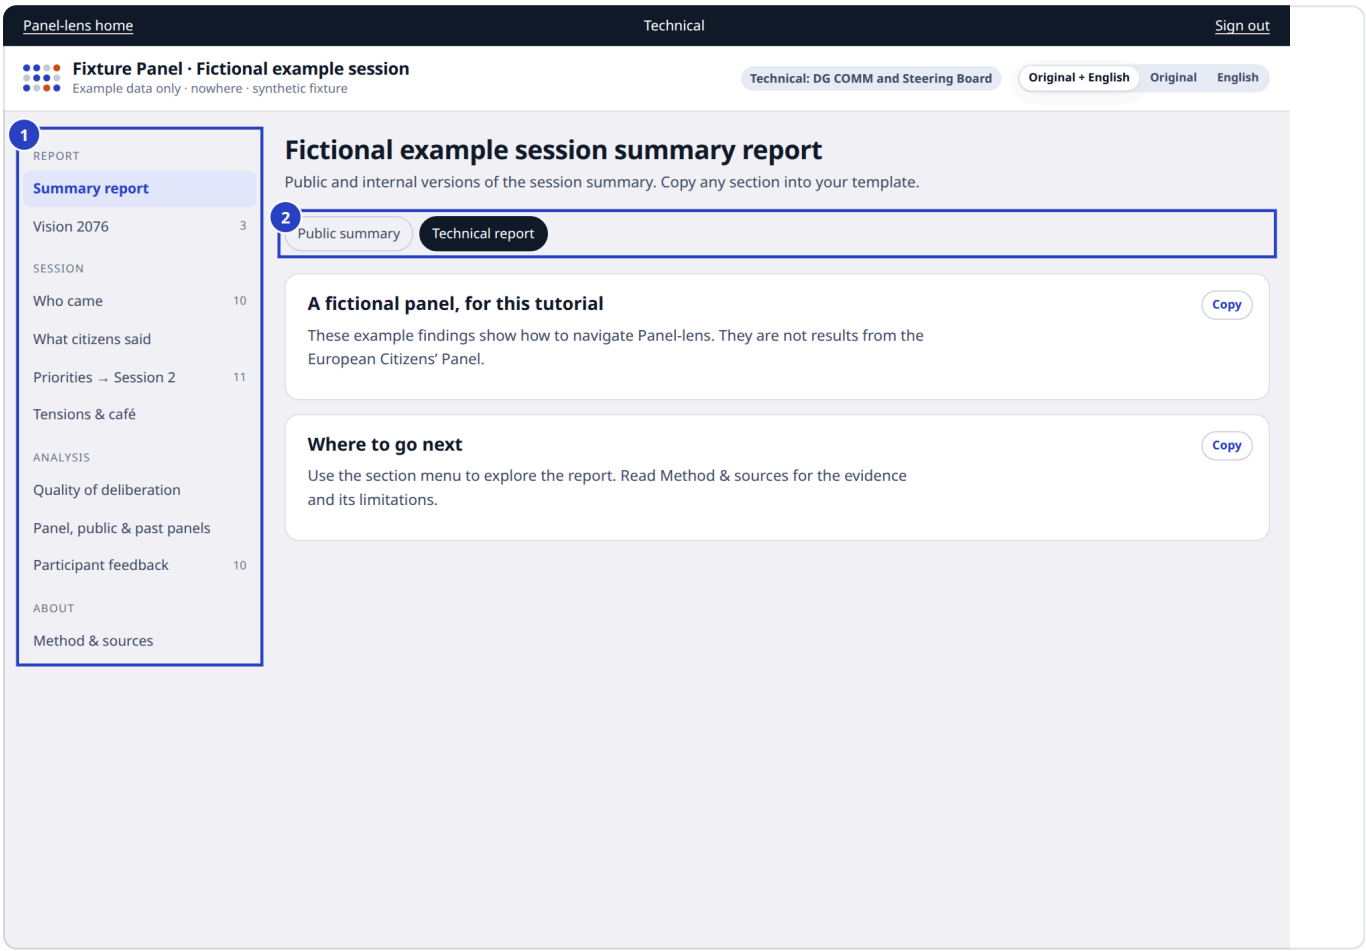

A code works only in the browser session that requested it. If it has expired or you changed browsers, start again with a fresh sign-in session. On a shared device, sign out when finished.

03 Explore the report with the section menu

After sign-in, the Technical report opens. If you land on the homepage, select Open Technical. Start with Summary report, then choose Who came, What citizens said or Priorities → Session 2 from the left menu.

Continue to Quality of deliberation, Panel, public & past panels and Participant feedback where available. Method & sources explains coverage and caveats. Menu names and available sections follow the current report.

On a phone, swipe the horizontal section strip to find the next view. Use Panel-lens home in the top bar to return to the portal.

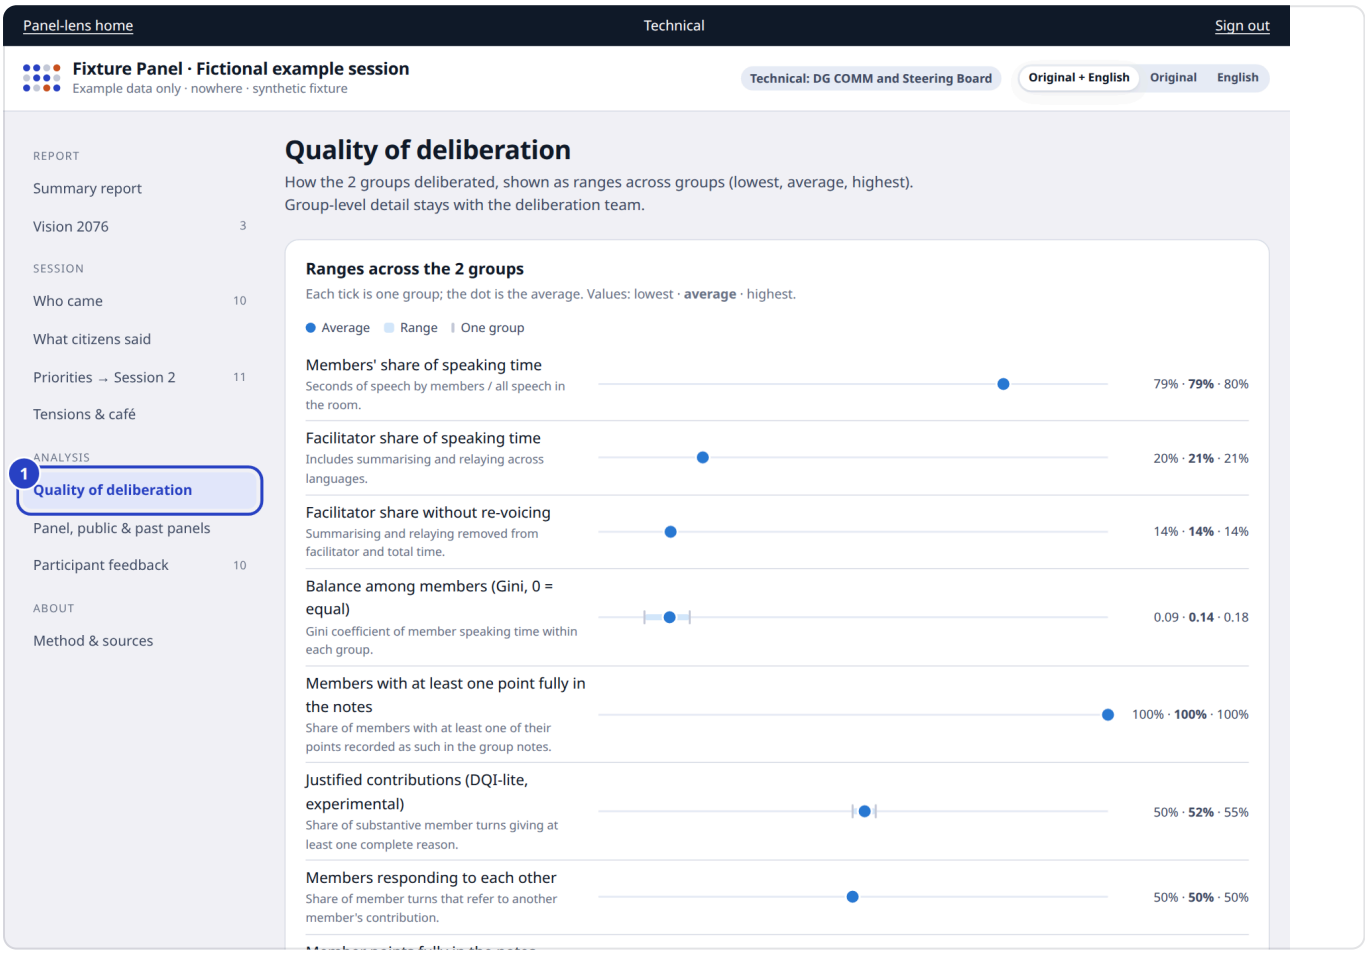

Technical adds session and analysis sections. Team-only views and member cards are absent.

04 Read the evidence in context

Where report-version buttons are shown, choose Public summary or Technical report within Summary report. These buttons switch the written report; they do not change your account's access.

Use the quote-language buttons for Original + English, Original or English. Hover over chart marks on a computer for extra values where a tooltip is available, and read each chart's units and source notes.

Measures marked experimental are exploratory and need cautious interpretation. When finished, select Sign out in the top bar and confirm on the sign-out page. Share the Public link with readers who do not have Technical access.

Panel-wide analysis comes with explanatory notes. Experimental measures are labelled in the report.

If something does not work

The code email is missing

Check spam or junk and mark a legitimate Panel-lens message as not spam. Verify your email address. Only approved, active accounts receive codes; ask the panel administrator to check your access. Avoid repeated requests.

The code is rejected or expired

Use the latest code requested in that same browser session within 10 minutes. After too many failed attempts, or if the session is no longer usable, start a fresh sign-in session and request a new code. Never share a code with support.

“This page needs a different profile”

Return to Panel-lens home and open your assigned report. Selecting another category does not grant access. Ask the administrator if your profile needs changing. Internal readers should use the Internal entrance for technical material.

I cannot find a section on my phone

Swipe the report’s horizontal section strip. On portal pages, use Menu for account navigation. A section may be absent because the current report or your access level does not include it.
